Brandon Scholz
WGA President and CEO

WGA Allied Members and Vendor Friends,

The Wisconsin Grocers Association exists to serve its members and your support of the WGA's programs and events is critical element of the WGA's efforts to support retailer grocers and warehouse suppliers!

The WGA strives to provide superior networking and opportunities to connect you with grocers. We help you with our communications, education, benefits, and programs tailored to grocer members. We're working on offering you more in 2023 than we've ever had before!

Keep connected with the retail grocery industry in Wisconsin with a WGA Allied membership. You'll receive industry updates on what is happening in Wisconsin. Frankly, it's something you can't get anywhere else! As many WGA Allied members say, the commitment to support the WGA underscores the necessity for a strong state trade association to help create solid business relationships between the retail and vendor community.

The WGA will keep you informed with current events with WGA members in our regular communications like the WGA's President's Letter delivered on Fridays which provides a weekly overview of the industry plus insider information about WGA members. The Weekly Special, bi-weekly Vendor Insider and special member communications are all designed with Allied Members' needs in mind! The quarterly Wisconsin Grocer magazine is a first-class trade magazine featuring retailer and vendor members with locally written articles, member stories and information, and legislative updates.

The WGA is targeting its offerings to give you as much leverage as possible. This information packed brochure has been developed to help you, our vendor partners, plan your 2023 participation. The WGA VP of Events, Kris Neilson, will connect with you and help you work with the WGA promoting your company to showcase your products and services.
